It is said the officers surrounded the place while the game was in progress and the players admitted their guilt, although all the chips and paraphernalia except one card had vanished by the time the officers broke the door open.

DEAD ENGINEER WAS AT THROTTLE WHEN TRAIN WAS WRECKED

J., Mar. 4. — A lifeless hand, officials today believe, drove the "Philadelphia flier" crack Central Railway of New Jersey Express, past a danger signal and into a local train near here last night, causing four deaths. The engineer, William S. Sell, found dead in his crushed cab, is thought to have died from heart failure prior to the crash. An investigation to determine this is under way now.

Statements by railroad attaches showed a danger signal was set against the flier.

HOOBLER HOME IS COMPLETELY DESTROYED BY FIRE THURSDAY

Children Rescued With Difficulty In Their Night Clothing

EVERYTHING BURNED

Neighbors Near Fresno Knew Nothing of Blaze Until Home Was In Ashes

Ralph, aged 11 and Bessie, aged 7, children of Mrs. Belle Hoobler narrowly escaped being burned alive early Thursday when the large frame house occupied by Mrs. Hoobler and her two children burned to the ground. The home was located on the Coshocton-Chili road near Fresno.

Otto Slaughter, a boarder, who is employed at the Coshocton glass factory was burned about the face and lost part of his hair in the fire.

The house was ignited from an overheated stove in the kitchen, on which Mrs. Hoobler had been preparing breakfast for the children, both of whom attend school. Mrs. Hoobler had gone out of the house for a few minutes and did not discover the blaze until she opened the kitchen door to find the room a mass of flames. The strong wind fanned the flames thru the house, and the wooden structure burned so rapidly that it was with difficulty the children were aroused and rushed from the house in their night clothing.

Mr. Slaughter had returned from his work at 3 o'clock Thursday morning and was sleeping soundly. It was with difficulty that he was awakened, and when he attempted to leave the house he was forced to rush thru flames and smoke with the result that he was slightly burned.

Nothing was saved from the house. The children were carried to the barn nearby and wrapped in horse blankets until neighbors provided clothing. The family is being cared for at the home of Mrs. Reo Adams, a sister of Mrs. Hoobler, who lives about a mile from the Hoobler farm.

The loss was estimated between $1,500 and $2,000 Thursday, only a part of which is covered by insurance.

Mr. Hoobler, father of the two children has been dead several years. Mrs. Hoobler formerly resided in Coshocton, but had recently purchased the farm of 160 acres on which she lived.

The rapidity with which the house burned was astonishing to the neighbors who found the house in ruins when they arrived less than 20 minutes after the fire was discovered by Mrs. Hoobler. The structure was formed of heavy timbers thoroughly dried and made porous thru age. This fact coupled with the high wind and the natural draft formed by the open kitchen door turned the dwelling into a natural furnace.

The nearest residence was a quarter of a mile from the Hoobler home, and due to the direction of the wind the smoke from the fire was not noticed.

SECOND BECKER POLICE SCANDAL IS REVEALED IN GOTHAM TODAY

Investigation Just Begun Will Uncover the Worst Scandal in Years

COPS ACCEPT BRIBES

Women of Streets Paid For Protection; Divided Proceeds, They Confess

NEW YORK, Mar. 4. — A police scandal that promises to assume the proportions of the famous Becker case was disclosed here today following the indictment by a grand jury of Detective John J. Gunson, on charges of bribery and extortion. An investigation of the entire police department is under way, and it is claimed that at least ten other plain clothes men, two bondsmen, and an attorney are involved in a form of wholesale grafting from women in the streets.

It was announced from the district attorney's office that the investigation is in its infancy and will uncover the worst scandal that has touched the department in years.

Gunson is charged specifically with having accepted $50 from a woman of the streets for promised protection and also with having extorted money from the same woman by threatening her with arrest unless she "paid up."

The woman, Rebecca Malyado, told James E. Smith, assistant district attorney that Gunson persuaded her to operate in the Upper Broadway "white way" district, and with other detectives, promised her protection.

Every morning, she declared, she divided the proceeds with Gunson.

The Malyado girl said she had known Gunson three years and had given him about $50,000 and many presents, including theatre tickets, silk shirts, jewelry and meals. She said she had lived with him as his "sister" and had acted as "rounder up" of other girls who had refused to "come thru" with money for police-men. Rose Gonzales and Estella Young, two other women of the streets corroborated her story.

Both the Malyado girl and Rose Gonzales asserted they had many times bot their freedom from policemen after being arrested, paying as high as $500 for their release.

When the Malyado girl decided to "go straight," she charged, Gunson pursued her and demanded that she follow her old vocation, driving her from positions and forcing her to keep out of the midtown district under Gunson's jurisdiction.

All three women charged that it was often necessary for women of the streets to sell their jewelry and pawn their clothing to meet the "pull off" demands of the police.

"The scandal we have uncovered in the police department would be incredible were it not supported by the strongest evidence," said Smith today. "The probe has just begun and far more sensational charges are being investigated."

GROCERS WATCH ANXIOUSLY FOR BREAK IN FOOD MARKET PRICES

Nothing Stable In the Situation Here, Retailers Indicate

EGGS FIRST TO FALL

That General Slump is Just Ahead is Consensus of Opinion

That living costs are on the verge of a decided slump was the consensus of opinion among local grocers Thursday. When approached by a reporter with queries concerning the probable trend of prices in the immediate future the Coshocton grocer—to speak of them collectively—cleared his throat and took on a serious air of confidence and solicitude.

To paraphrase his first sally at conversation: "Now listen. What's the idea in my telling you that things are going to drop? Do you suppose we want to tip the housewife off to the impending decline, to the extent that she will delay purchase of groceries and supplies? Of course eggs are going to drop, and a lot of other things will drop too, but why inform the public and get it in a spirit of expectancy that will counteract all the good effect of a reduction in the cost of eating? It will not only counteract the good psychological effect but will countermand orders for the present."

When informed that sugar is plentiful at 15 and 17 cents a pound in Columbus and that hard in the capital city is quoted at 23 cents wholesale the grocer said: "It can't be done." When asked if food prices are higher in Coshocton than in the larger cities of the state he said he believed not.

Eggs in Coshocton were being hot at 45 to 50 cents and sold at 56 cents Thursday. "They're bound to drop," is the unanimous vote of the grocers, but not to 45 cents, as was forecast in the Columbus market yesterday.

Butter is purchased from the farms for 62 cents and sold for 70. Creamery butter was quoted at 70 to 75 at different stores Thursday.

Prices of other commodities were firm Thursday, with every indication of a break ahead.

"We are selling out what eggs we have at 56 cents," one grocer told the reporter. He added that when his supply is gone there'll be a reduction. Another grocer ventured to predict that butter prices would advance rather than decline. "It's going sky high," he said.

Thru the various conversations it was very discernible that the grocer is not just real certain where he is, with respect to the market and its fluctuations. He is holding his breath, so to speak, ready to jump this way or that as his judgment dictates in the light of the perceptible trend of the market and public opinion.

DRYS WIN TEST VOTE IN HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4. — A test vote in the house today on the wet and dry question resulted in a decisive victory for the drys, 234 to 56.

The vote came over the vigorous objection of the drys, who evidently wanted to escape a record vote on a resolution by Rep. Egans, of New Jersey, to send the legislative appropriation bill back to the committee with instructions to strike out of it an appropriation of $450,000,000 for prohibition enforcement.

Egan's resolution also provided for the repeal on June 30 next of the Volstead enforcement law.

It was possible to get a vote only after considerable opposition. The drys appealed to Speaker Gillett to declare the proceedings out of order, but the speaker refused to do so. Then Rep. Caldwell, of New York, moved for a vote and it was taken.

JOINT EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN SEASON'S CLIMAX IN WORK OF 2 LOCAL CHURCHES

Growing interest in the revival services held jointly at Grace M. E. church by Methodists and Presbyterians was shown in the increased attendance at Wednesday evening's service.

The Rev. Joseph A. Speer of the First Presbyterian church preached an excellent sermon showing that frequently one's most intimate personal associates are the greatest bar to entering the fellowship of the church of Christ. The sermon made a deep impression and at its close two came forward for prayer.

A feature of the preceding musical service was a vocal solo by Miss Evelyn Swan. Between thirty and forty voices now compose the choir made up of well known soloists from both congregations. The choral work is also augmented by a splendid orchestra. Much favorable comment has been expressed in regard to the entire musical feature of these evangelistic services under the direction of the Rev. John I. Wean.

Another service which is well attended is the twenty-minute period devoted to prayer beginning at 7:10 o'clock and continuing until the opening number of the choir service at 7:30. The prayer service has been unusually well attended so far and bids fair to grow in interest with the development of the revival spirit.

Both congregations have joined in an invitation to the general public to avail itself of the deep spiritual interest which these meetings have aroused in the community. The services this evening promise to be of unusual interest.

COLORED PEOPLE WED
Henry Smith, colored and Elsie Thomas, colored, were married by Justice R. B. McDermott Wednesday afternoon.

WASHINGTON, March 4. — The state of New Jersey filed today in the United States supreme court a bill of complaint asking that the prohibition amendment and the Volstead enforcement act be declared null and void. Joseph A. Lanigan, assistant attorney general of New Jersey filed the bill of complaint which was drawn by Attorney General McCran by the authority of Gov. Edwards, elected on a "wet" platform, last November. One of the objects of the suit is to prevent United States Attorney General Palmer and Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper from enforcing the Volstead act in New Jersey.

Attorney General McCran of New Jersey will appear in supreme court Monday to proceed with the suit.

New Jersey charges that the eighteenth amendment is null and void for these reasons:

That the 18th amendment not proper under Article V, of the constitution. There is no power in congress to propose an amendment regulating conduct and morals and that article V permits only such amendments as are alterations or amendments with the scope of the constitution.

That there is no power in the states to ratify an amendment such as the eighteenth.

That two thirds of the members of both house of congress "did not deem such an amendment necessary," within the true intent and meaning of Article V of the constitution.

That the prohibition contained in the amendment is legislative matter under article I of the constitution and not properly an amendment under article V.

That as legislative matter it was not properly passed by congress and submitted to the president of the United States and is therefore void and of no effect.

That in 21 states, South Dakota, Oregon, Nevada, Montana, Oklahoma, Maine, Missouri, Michigan, Arkansas, Colorado, Arizona, California, Ohio, Nebraska, North Dakota, Washington, Mississippi, Utah, Massachusetts, New Mexico and Maryland, the legislatures have not ratified as provided by the constitution of such states, and that therefore three fourths of the states have not ratified in the constitutional sense.

That the alleged 18th amendment establishes a centralization of power and authority without the consent of the people of the state of New Jersey and is unalterable and unenforceable at all times by them, and is therefore inconsistent with fundamental purposes expressed in the preamble of the constitution "to form a more perfect union and to secure the blessings of liberty to posterity," and establishes a precedent whereby no powers will be reserved to the respective states as provided in article I of the constitution by the reserve powers of the several states may be annulled and destroyed under the guise and pretense of amending the constitution.

FUNERAL OF DAVE RICHESON TO BE FRIDAY MORNING

Coroner Edmund Cope and Sheriff Earl Cullison returned to Coshocton Wednesday afternoon after investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of David Richeson, who was burned to death in a shark along the canal in the vicinity of Six Mile Dam early Wednesday morning.

While it is considered somewhat mysterious that Dave Richeson was unable to escape from his bed when the shark caught fire, it is thought that it was a plain case of accidental death and the coroner's report will probably be to this effect.

Funeral services for David Richeson will be conducted Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the home of his brother-in-law, Lemuel Darr, in Warsaw and burial will be made in Valley View cemetery.

LANSING FAMILY LEAVES CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Mar. 4. —Silently, like the Arab, former secretary of state Robert Lansing has folded his "tent" and gone away.

It was learned today. This little vacation over, he will return to the capital and, it is said take up the practice of law, probably specializing in international cases.

DISTRIBUTION OF COAL PRODUCT'N THRUOUT YEAR IS HOPE OF MINERS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 3.—One of the interesting developments in the coal industry in the last few weeks, says the official organ of the United Mine Workers, is the vigorous manner in which coal operators and others have undertaken the task of stimulating more steady operation of the mines so that coal may be produced thruout the year, instead of confining the great bulk of production to a few months, the United Mine Workers say in a statement. All over the country associations of coal operators, wholesale and retail dealers are taking up this subject and attempting to work out a solution.

And one of the very interesting features of this movement, the statement says, is the fact that it was all brot about by the demand of the coal miners for a shorter work-day and a more equitable distribution of employment thruout the year. By taking this stand and insisting that they shall have employment during a greater period of the year in order to make a living for their families, the miners have done a splendid service not only for themselves, but for the coal trade generally as well as for the public. At the hearing before the Bituminous Coal Commission at Washington, that was held for the purpose of finding a basis for the settlement of the issues involved in the recent strike of bituminous miners, the miners say they demonstrated clearly to the commission with facts and statistics that it was utterly impossible for a man to earn a decent living for himself and his family by working only the number of days each year that the mines have operated heretofore.

They showed that the average number of days the miners of the Central Competitive Field were employed in the six years from 1913 to 1918, inclusive, was 295 1/2 a year. This means that the miners were idle one third of their time, thru no fault of their own. They say no laboring man can make a living for his family by working only two thirds of his time.

This fact was a revelation to the public. The people did not know that the coal miners were compelled to put up with such a condition. For years, the miners say, it was the practice of the coal operators to make the public believe that the miners were responsible for all of the ills of the coal business, but when these facts were brot out before the Commission by the miners and the public learned the real truth there was a change in sentiment that compelled the operators to sit up and take notice.

The result is that operators, mining engineers and others connected with the coal business are attacking the problem all over the country. They have suddenly discovered that such a great loss of time in operation of the mines means a loss to the operators as well as to the miners, and they are working for a remedy that may be applied. How to do it is their problem.

Another thing the people did not know until it was brot out by the miners before the Commission is that the miners do not refuse to work when they have work to do. The people have learned, the miners say, that the miner wants to work. He wants to work a greater part of the year at a living wage than he has in the past. He believes this may be brot about thru the adoption of the shorter work

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parment (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

SKIRT AND BLOUSE STAGE A COME-BACK

There is going to be no little competition this year between the popular one-piece frock and the separate skirt and blouse. Just now the skirt and blouse are in the lead. Here is a dainty skirt for late spring and summer. It is fashioned of silk crepe called "sea spray." The popular style of blouse, which does not tuck in at the waist but reaches to the hips, is worn with the skirt.

TESTIMONY ALMOST FINISHED IN THE CENTRALIA TRIAL

MONTESSANO, WASH., Mar. 4. — Today heralds the closing scene in the trial of ten alleged I. W. W. charged with the Centralia armistice day murders. The defense probably will complete its case. Attorneys for both sides believe that all direct testimony will be completed by the end of the week.

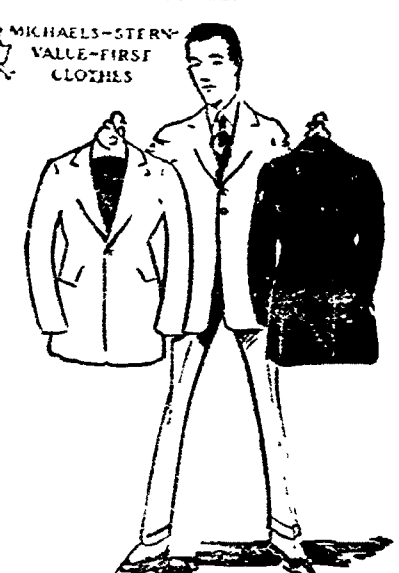

Determined efforts will be made again by the defense attorneys, George F. Vanderveer, to introduce evidence tending to show that Centralia business interests had plotted the elimination of the I. W. W. from that city. The ruling of Judge Wilson that the defense shall not introduce such evidence is based on his assertion that the defense has not shown sufficient evidence to date that Warren O. Grimm participated in an alleged raid on the I. W. W. hall. Despite this court order, Vanderveer is endeavoring to force this testimony thru in his examination of witnesses.

MORGAN HEIR AND BRIDE GO ABROAD

NEW YORK, Mar. 4. — Laurens Morgan Hamilton, grandson of the late J. Pierpont Morgan and his bride, formerly Mrs. Gertrude Warren, are on their way to France. It became known today.

Hamilton, a descendant of Alexander Hamilton, is believed penniless and dependant upon his bride, who is reported to have a luxurious apartment in Paris. Hamilton is twenty and his bride 22.

SPANG WILL SET ASIDE BY COURT

NEW YORK, Mar. 4. — The $2,000,000 will of Mrs. Rosa E. Spang, late widow of a Pittsburgh steel millionaire, was declared void when a surrogate's court jury returned a verdict early today that Mr. Spang was of unsound mind when he signed the testament. The jury reported at 3:15 o'clock, after having been out for more than 12 hours.

Mrs. Spang, who died at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on June 22, 1919, had left the bulk of her estate to found a home for abandoned girls until they could become self-supporting. The will was contested by a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Cronin Anders, of Copenhagen, Denmark, who had been embezzled only a nominal sum.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. For 17 years he used these tablets (a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil) in his private practice with great success.

They do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. No pains, no griping, no injury to the gums or danger from acid foods—yet they stimulate the liver and bowels. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they clear clouded brain and perk up the spirits. 10c and 25c a box.

KEEP URIC ACID OUT OF JOINTS

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Eat Less Meat and Take Salts.

Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly; keep the feet dry; avoid exposure; eat less meat, drink plenty of good water.

Rheumatism is a direct result of eating too much meat and other rich foods that produce uric acid which is absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate the uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating thru the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which helps overcome uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.

Why not buy a pair of "Dutchess" Trousers; 10c a button, $1 a rip, to match up your old coat and vest. We have them from $2.75 to $9. D. O. Thompson.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this special sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get about two ounces of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist. Use it like a cold cream.

Quality first of all then "lower prices," than you will find at any other store in Coshocton. We will prove the assertion. Will you let us? D. O. Thompson.

NEW YORK LETTER Day-By-Day

NEW YORK, March 4.—There is reason to believe that moving picture producers will soon be sobbing at the studio doors of authors whining pitifully for stories for the films. The day of the author has arrived. Just the other day a well known novelist got a contract for $50,000 a year for four scenarios and a share in the net profits which ought to make it $100,000.

The moving picture producer has been rather contemptuous toward the author. In the days of the picture infancy the author was something to be tolerated—like the measles. There are stories too that in the early days submitted scenarios were not even returned and in many cases they were filed brazenly.

Now there are plenty of stars, directors, studios—but not stories. And enter the author with his cigarette, fur coat and rather haughty manner. He will write deathless plots for "puff" puff—oh! well say $2,000 a week with a limousine to carry him to and from the studios. And a couple of trips a year to California thrown in.

Writers who have trunk loads of rejected manuscripts dig out a few, polish them up with a few thrills and get their own price. Rex Beach has proved that the movie fan will go to see the author's works as quickly as a blond curled star or a brunette vamp. He has left literature and is said to be making $200,000 a year writing scenarios.

A good plot man can write a picture play in a couple of days. All he needs is action. The writing takes up about three pages. Then he is thru. The "continuity man" does the rest. They

STILL GOING UP

STATISTICS gathered from fifty cities show a general advance in the cost of living from December 15 to January 15, according to Washington advices. Of the larger cities St. Louis and Detroit are unfortunate enough to lead the procession with the highest increase, namely, three percent.

It is impossible to understand why there should have been any advance in living costs during the period covered. There was no strike, no advance in wages anywhere, so far as the public knows, to which the rise may be charged. On the contrary, circumstances generally point to a recession in prices.

The packers, for example, have reported falling prices for some time, and the fact that the consumer has as yet received no benefit from those lower packer prices evoked a threat to retailers a few days ago from Attorney-General Palmer.

Within the past two weeks a number of statesmen have told about the great slump in our export trade because of exchange rates. Europe is unable to buy our food. The only silver lining to that cloud was the fact that with exports cut off, or seriously curtailed, prices at home would recede. Instead of receding they keep on climbing.

Somebody is responsible for this. There is ample authority and agencies galore for fixing this responsibility and punishing the guilty.

Attorney-General Palmer ought to quit his proclamations, threats and speeches and try jailing a few profiteers.

WALT MASON
BREVITY

If you desire to make a hit it's well to bear in mind that brevity's the soul of wit, the wisest scheme you'll find. Long winded men are always shunned they fill our souls with care, although they may possess a fund of knowledge rich and rare. We all detest the dreary chump who tells a rambling tale, so long it reaches from the dump clear to the county jail. We all are bored by dizzy birds who know not when to stop, who pile up endless words on words, and other words on top. How comforting the silent gent, who makes a brief retort, who's all ways said just what he meant, and on the saying short! The words he uses, as thru his face, are chosen as the best for brevity, the soul of grace, and sense and all the rest. The man who lectures for an hour will make his hearers mad; he'll see the faces turning sour that at the start were glad. Ten minutes are enough, I wot for my speaker's junk; for nearly all we say is rot; the rest is mostly bunk.

VETERANS' REPRESENTATIVE URGES BONUS LEGISLATION BEFORE HOUSE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, March 4.—Failure of congress to provide a bonus or other recognition for the former service men was classed today as one of the "injustices of republics" by Edward H. Hale, representative of the veterans of foreign wars of the United States, before the house ways and means committee having charge of war bonus legislation.

"Receptions given to us when we returned from France now stand out in their emptiness," Hale declared. "Hale scored those opposing the granting of a bonus on the ground that 'the careers of such self-appointed censors of patriotism and commercialized patriotism are notably filled with pacific patriotism which did not even prompt them to go overseas.'"

"In considering this legislation you must consider that the men who went overseas did not get the high war salaries which makes it possible for those who remained in civil life to have their far lined overcoats and stivers, while the service men are still wearing their service overcoats to keep warm."

Two plans for bonuses were outlined by Hale. They were:

1. Bonus of $20 a month for each month of service.

2. Opportunity to purchase a home on money lent by the government at proper interest fee and secured by property purchased.

"You can not pay the veterans of the world war for what they did. We ask you to recompense them in some measure for what they lost," Hale explained.

Charges that Franklin D'Olier, commander of the American Legion, "misstated facts" to the committee were made by Hale.

The remark caused a storm of protest among the members of the committee which was discontinued only when Chairman Fordney declared "order must be maintained or we will quit these hearings."

Hale said the erroneous statements should be contradicted.

Rep. Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts, declared the committee should not permit criticism of the American Legion because of rivalry existing between the various organizations.

"We must permit criticism if we are to get anywhere," Rep. Garner, Democrat, of Texas, declared.

The argument caused several committee members to leave the room. They were recalled by Chairman Fordney and order was restored.

Rep. Longworth, Republican, Ohio, asked if the foreign vets association was for a flat $30 a month with no additional grant for foreign service.

"I would recommend a $100 additional bonus for overseas service and exempt men who served less than two months from the provisions of the act because they have received $60," Hale explained. "I would fix the minimum grant of $240."

A plan by which the bonus propos-our former allies. As it is now we are not certain we shall ever get the money we have invested.

"Barley Withers, an English economist, is already advocating the marking off of 50 per cent of the debt to the United States. I will leave it to the former service men to see if any country will fail to pay the interest or the principal when due."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and cleanses the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway spruce extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Don't Treat Kidneys Rough, Warns Dr. Carey, Specialist

Constant Flushing May Injure the Delicate Organism and Seldom Removes the Poisonous Deposits.

Now that Dr. Carey, kidney and bladder specialist, has retired from active practice, he generously warns people that even the smallest symptoms of kidney trouble should have serious attention.

Backache, for instance, puffiness under or specks floating before the eyes, heavy feet and dry skin, are also danger signals.

"Thousands die yearly because they neglect their kidneys," says Dr. Carey, "and I feel upon retiring that I should tell all who even suspect kidney or bladder trouble about my prescription, Marshroot, which, during my active practice has cured thousands of all kinds of kidney ailments."

This prescription has been given to pharmacists generally throughout America and is dispensed by them under the name Dr. Carey's Marshroot, a name that every sufferer from kidney trouble should remember.

ADOLPH ZUKOR PRESENTS

"THE COPPERHEAD"

WITH
LIONEL BARRYMORE
A Paramount Artcraft Picture

THEY called him "traitor," and he gloried in the shame. His cronies were those who sneered when the flag went by. His soldier son, giving his life for the Union, left him only a message of scorn. His wife, the love of his youth, turned from him as from a thing unclean, and died without saying goodbye. The lads in the street reviled him—cheered when he went to prison.

—But one day this "traitor" received a letter bearing the mark of the White House and scrawled by a big rough hand:—

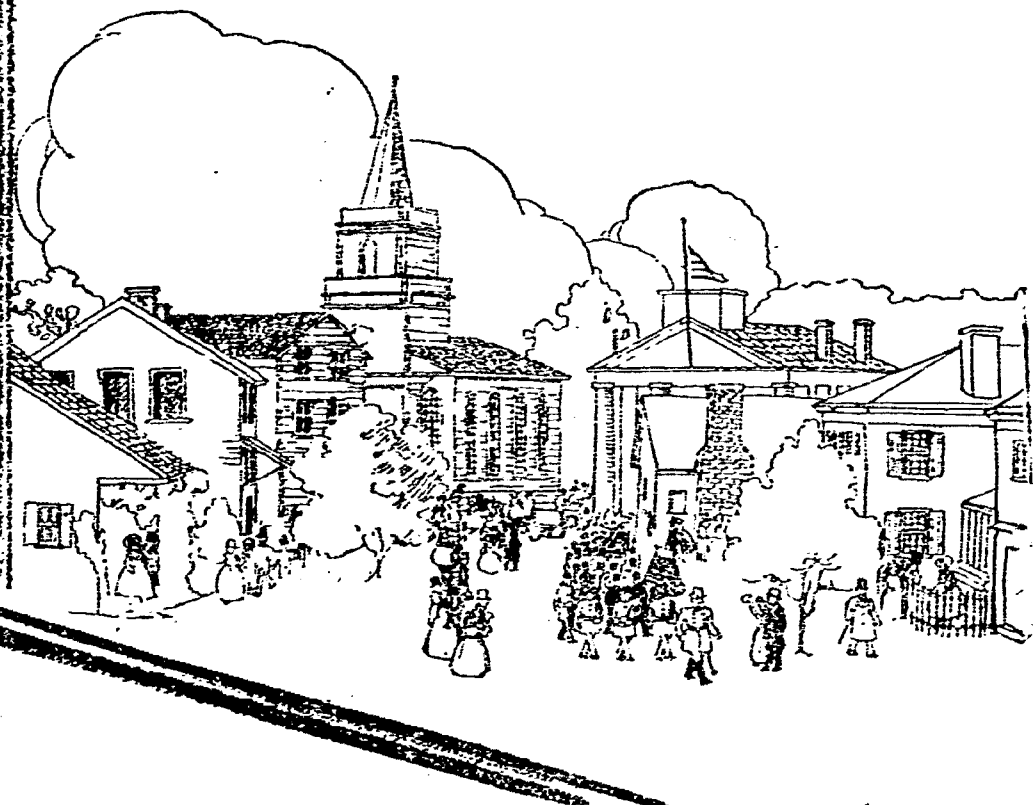

I alone know what you did and what you endured. I cannot reward you. Man cannot reward anything worth while. I send you the flag that flew at Vicksburg. Some time I hope to shake your hand.

Your friend, A. Lincoln.

—That was all his reward—all he wished.

SPECIAL MUSIC—FIVE-PIECE ORCHESTRA
WITH THIS BIG NINE-REEL MASTER PRODUCTION

AN ARTISTIC DANCER STAGES A WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE AT THE PASTIME THEATER

If you've been looking for something new in amusements and want it good at the same time, our advice is to see Princess Owy current at the Pastime. And believe us, when we say it's something different. Prepossessing to look at and arrayed in barbaric splendor, however abbreviated her costume is at both ends, she enacts a snake, twisting, writhing, serpentine series of motions, rhythmic and perfectly, and largely produced with her arms and tapering fingers, assisted by a pair of pliable shoulders. Occasionally she takes steps, but these are merely incidental. Her work is truly marvelous, and performed with a grace only attained by long practice.

In her dance, Princess Owy has a special setting, and the assistance of the members of her company who pose, giving the whole a proper setting. Her dance is well worth while for amusement seekers, and is far the best one could hope to see.

Preceding the Princess' dance comes a series of poses by the several girls in her company, representing "Youth and Beauty," "Innocence and Purity," "School Mates," "Flirtation," "Mother's Advice," "Temptation," "Passion," "Ruination and Disgrace," all leading up to the picture, "The Price Woman Pays," which follows the dance of Princess Owy. The girls who pose are pretty and elaborately gowned according to the needs of the tableaux. The gowns of Passion, Temptation, Flirtation, and one or two others are beautiful in conception, while the rest call for character gowns for the most part. This part of the entertainment was unique and gives Pastime amusement seekers a taste of what the large "first run" theatres in the cities give their patrons in the way of "atmospheric" prologues.

The picture presented along with these tableaux is a gripping story of two school chums, girls, in a small American town. A flirtation ensues with two men, careless of consequences. The mother of one discovers the daughter's secret and gives her the story of "Faust" to read. She reads and profits thereby. The other is lured on to the city by promise of marriage and is followed by the other girl in search of her. The ending comes in a pleasant fashion, but the lesson is driven home to the spectator particularly girls of the school age.

MAY REDUCE NUMBER OF DEFENDANTS IN THE NEWBERRY CASE

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Mar. 4.—Possibility that still more defendants in the Newberry trial would be dismissed from the case by Judge Sessions today loomed at the opening of the morning session, when Judge James M. Murfin, of the defense council, began a plea for the liberation of forty of them.

The defense was especially optimistic today as the result of the dismissal of more defendants Wednesday and the impression created by the airy testimony of James W. Helme, who ran against Henry Ford in the Democratic primaries at the behest of the Newberry campaign workers. Time and again the absurd picture he drew of himself as a "conspirator" brot laughs from the court, and his testimony is regarded as having scored heavily in favor of all the respondents.

As soon as motions to drop various of the defendants have been acted up on the defense will present its case. The first witness will be George Miller, managing editor of the Detroit News, who will testify concerning the starting of the campaign.

HANSEN BLAMES TROUBLES ON HIS BAILING JENKINS

NEW YORK, March 4.—John S. Hansen, arrested here last night on an old charge of impairing the morals of a minor, today admitted to a representative of the International News Service that he is J. Sulzer Hansen, who gave $500 bail to effect the release of United States Consul Agent Jenkins, in Mexico last year, which averted a crisis between Mexico and the United States. Hansen declared he had put up the $500 bail from purely personal motives and denied that the Mexican government had influenced his act.

"I never saw Jenkins in my life," he added. "And I have no diplomatic connections with any government. I was moved to pay the bail when I saw war between Mexico and the United States. My patriotism compelled me to prevent a conflict."

He also declared that Jenkins had been "justly arrested." He then added that his act of furnishing bail had brot about his arrest here last night. He blamed Standard Oil Company officials, saying "my arrest on this old charge, that was previously dropped and the Jenkins case are closely related. The Standard Oil Co., with great interest in Mexico is back of it."

Hansen also declared that the charge was being used as a club to compel him to settle a civil suit for $25,000 damages brot against him by the parents of a minor.

OBITUARY

Mary M. Elliott, wife of W. L. Wilson, was born April 25, 1859, and died this life February 17, 1920, aged 60 years, 10 months and 22 days. She was united in marriage to W. L. Wilson of Blissfield, Ohio, October 21, 1879. To this union seven children were born, six daughters and a son. She, early in life, gave her heart to God and lived a thoro Christian life to the end. Death came without a struggle, while sitting in her chair. She bore her suffering patiently, never complaining, but with her kind and loving way always made home cheerful. She leaves to mourn her departure a bereaved husband, seven children, namely: Mrs. Francis Curtis of Spring Mountain, Clifford Crocker, of Killbuck, Howard Darr of Warsaw, Erwin Fortune of Blissfield, Arthur Ebersole of Beach City, Mr. W. D. Wilson of Blissfield and Miss Clara of the home, also two sisters, four brothers, twenty grandchildren and a host of friends. Services were held in the Methodist church and interment was made at Blissfield cemetery. The family wish to extend their thanks to the neighbors and friends for their sympathy and help in their sad bereavement.

Two more hands are gently folded
On a faithful mother's breast
Two more feet have ceased to wander
Thru life's stormy wilderness
One more heart has ceased its aching
One more heart has ceased to beat

One dear face to more appearing
When the breakfast table spreads
One more voice to more we answer
When the land goodnight is said
Off we think we hear our mother
Coming thru the open door
Then we tearfully remember
Mother will come some more

Death has robbed us of our mother
Whom we loved and cherished dear
In the depth of our affliction
Can we help but shed a tear
All is dark within our dwelling
Lone are our hearts today
For the one we loved so dearly
Has forever passed away.

We have much more attraction
Over on the other side
And we'll put our house in order
So we may with thee abide
We'll together with our Master
Be a glorious happy band
In that golden heavenly mansion
In that house not made with hands.

THE LONELY HEARTH

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union)

"The same old Randal Worth, eh?"
"In patience and duty, I hope so."
Martin Brill looked curiously about the living room of the old house in which his friend lived all by himself. It had seen better days, but its age was well concealed by the efforts at care and neatness.

"Of course, it's home, and you love it," spoke Brill, "but you're made for something better in a social way, than for a solitary old bachelor, and in a business way for a plodding existence as a store clerk."

"That's all well enough," replied Worth, "but I couldn't break away from the only home I have ever known, and, to preserve it for myself and the others, I don't dare to make any experiments."

"The others," retorted Brill with asperity. "Do you ever think of your own right and pleasure?"

"I don't count particularly against those I love," said Worth, soberly. "I'm older than Esther, my sister, and Norman, my brother. Then there's his wife and three little children. How I miss them! How I would like to have them back with me! You see, Norman caught the farm craze, and I had to help him out in buying some land way out West. Sister Esther joined the family, but I don't think they have made much of a go out of it. It's a cold, cheerless spot, and the soil is not much good. Maybe they'll be coming along back soon. I hope so."

"And you are all ready for them, eh?" suggested Brill, with a sweep of his hand across the semi-circle of chairs.

"Why, yes," assented Worth, with a warm smile. "The first three are for Norman, his wife and Esther. Then that next chair for the oldest boy, the small rocker for little Walter, and the high chair for Baby Ruth. I'll sit in the middle."

"And that old-fashioned rocker next to it?" queried Brill.

"Why that was mother's old favorite," explained Randal reverently. "I like to think of her, and," flushing slightly, "maybe I'll sometime find some worthy person to fill it."

Martin Brill smiled secretly. He had heard that Randal had been an occasional escort for pretty Netta Searle, whom Randal had known from her childhood. There, too, was the self-sacrificing nature of Randal displayed, for but the money help he bestowed upon his brother and his family, and keeping open for them the old home, he might think of taking to himself a wife.

"Well, I hope your dream comes true," said Brill affectionately. "If your rovers do come back, it looks to me as though you and Norman ought to be able jointly to make ends meet easily. No disguise with a true friend, Randal; you want and need Netta Searle in your life. Get her."

That might be possible, reflected Randal as his friend went his way, but he was in no position to support her as he should do. His brother had not only drawn on his reserves originally, but had later been unable to even meet the interest on his mortgage, and Randal had to help him out. Norman's only prospect was to sell his equity in the farm, but that did not seem easy to do. A great gleam of joy came into the face of Randal one day a week later as he received a letter. It contained wonderful news! Norman had disposed of his interest in his property for $4,000. He and his eager brood were coming home forthwith. He would pay Randal half of the money; together they would invest in some safe little business, and live together in the dear old home, with their loved ones about them.

Randal had not visited Netta for nearly a fortnight. He was so elated, however, at the grand news he had received that he saw light ahead. He did not tell Netta of his unexpected good fortune, but she was so pleased at his coming that he went home confident and happy.

What a week of work was that for Randal! How he tidied up the room and burnished the antique furniture! The semi-circular row of chairs came in for great exertion of his energy and attention. It had existed ever since the day Norman and his family went away. It should not be disturbed now!

One evening Randal came over to the Searle home in a vast state of excitement. Netta was standing at the gate, thinking of him.

"Netta, I want you to come over to the house, if you will. My brother and his family have returned, and I want you to see them."

"Oh, how happy you must be to have them under the home roof once more!" exclaimed Netta, and she accompanied Randal gladly. He halted with her just beyond the open window of the lighted living room. Raptly Netta gazed within. Six of the chairs around the fireplace were filled, just as Randal had planned and hoped for two long, lonely years. He drew close to Netta's side.

"There are two vacant chairs," he said. "Netta, will you join me in filling them?"

"Oh, gladly!" replied Netta, and then she flushed and trembled, for the love-light in Randal's eyes was unmistakable.

"Not for this evening only, dearly beloved one," he whispered tenderly; "but while life lasts for us!"

SOCIALISTS ARE TRAITORS, SAYS STATE'S COUNCIL

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 4.—Socialists of the United States were today arraigned as "perpetual traitors," and informed that their party, not alone the five men elected to the New York state assembly by them, and subsequently suspended, was on trial for disloyalty, by Martin Conboy, summing up for the state in the Socialist inquiry.

Members of the assembly committee, and a packed assembly chamber, heard a most bitter and acrimonious indictment of the Socialist party as a group of men "in but not of the United States" intending to resist the national honor.

"These five men," declared Conboy, "will suffer for the official pronouncements, platforms and declaration of the Socialist party of America, declared in statements from the party's accepted leaders and for their participation in the party's disloyalty and treasonable conduct."

He declared the Socialist party a "disloyal party composed of perpetual traitors" charged Socialists in the United States had formed a third international and had cast their lot with the Moscow international.

Farms Wanted
We need at least 50 more farms for our new catalog. We don't claim to be the world's greatest farm agency, but we have sold more farms in Coshocton, Tuscarawas and Guernsey counties, the past year than all the other real estate agencies put together.
We sold 82 farms, mailed over 10,000
catalogs, and have at present over 6,000 inquiries for farms. If you have real estate to sell it will pay you to place it in the H. E. Masters farm in Ohio. Write us and we will call

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Menthol-ized Aircine and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It is a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

WAS NERVOUS AND RUN DOWN

RESTORED TO NORMAL
HEALTH BY BIO-FEREN

"I feel I owe you people a world of gratitude for the benefit I have received in using your wonderful remedy—Bio-Feren Tablets, which have completely restored me to normal conditions," says Joseph
E. Webb of Muncie, Indiana.

Bio-Feren is without doubt the greatest and quickest remedy for nervous, run down, weak, anemic men and women ever offered direct through the druggists and is not at all expensive.

Take two after each meal and one at bed time, and after seven days take one after each meal and one at bed time until the supply is exhausted.

Then if you feel that any claim made in this special notice is untrue—if you are not in better health—if you do not feel ambitious, more vigorous and keen minded, receive as much as you did before, the druggist who sold you the tablets will gladly hand you back just what you paid for them.

All druggists in this city and vicinity have a supply on hand, or can easily get it for you.
Seven a day for seven days—wonderful results.

RAILROAD MEN MEETING TODAY TO DECIDE ON STRIKE POLICY

CHICAGO, March 4. — On the outcome of a meeting held here today rests a decision whether 490,000 railroad workers of the country will go on strike and seriously interfere with the operation of every railroad system in the country.

Defying their grand lodge officials, 600 representatives of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way men and railway shop laborers met to consider whether they would override their chiefs in forcing their demands on the railroads, regardless of a promise made by the union chiefs to President Wilson that no strike would occur.

"The men are growing weary of never kept promises," said William Corbuck of the Cotton Belt Railroad. "I am holding my men in check with difficulty. Most maintenance of way men get less than $2 a day, making them the least paid of all railroad employees."

Among the officials attending the conference are B. W. Friedenberg, Illinois Central Railway of Indianapolis; C. W. Dickinson, Houston and Texas Central Railway Hempstead, Texas; T. J. Capps, International chairman; International and Great Northern Railroad, Austin, Texas; L. H. Odom, Texas and Pacific, Dallas, Texas and J. A. Marquette, of Texas.
